

Registered Nurse, Primary Care

For more than 30 years, the London InterCommunity Health Centre has provided health and social services to those who experience barriers to care including poverty, homelessness, language or culture, and complex and/or chronic health conditions including mental health and addictions. Today, with four busy clinics in three of London's most under-served regions, the organization is viewed as a community leader in newcomer health, care of marginalized women, issues of health equity, client-led service development and the advancement of partnerships that improve access to vital services for people who are at the margins in our community. Throughout the COVID-19 pandemic, we have maintained our operations in a centralized location and innovated new ways to continue to support our staff and clients through this difficult time with minimal interruption to our service delivery.

About the Position

Working to a full scope of practice, the Registered Nurse (RN) will provide comprehensive primary care nursing within a clinical care team focused on the needs of people significantly marginalized by poverty, addiction, and mental health issues.

The RN conducts analysis of health behaviours related to lifestyle and culture, review of client's medical history, physical assessments, and in collaboration with the client, development and implementation of person-centred care plans.

The RN works as a member of a multi-disciplinary team supported by physicians, nurse practitioners, dietitians, social workers, outreach workers, community development workers, and support staff. The RN also functions and participates in the development, implementation, monitoring and evaluation of programs, services and quality improvement initiatives for the communities served.

The successful candidate will act with professionalism and courtesy toward clients, the general public and colleagues, and will demonstrate the integral qualities of excellent customer service in order to provide high quality care aligned with the values of the Health Centre.

This full-time position typically works Monday to Friday, 37.5 hours per week with some evening flexibility required.

Required Qualifications:

- Post secondary diploma (RN) or degree (BScN) from a recognized college or university
- Current registration with the College of Nurses of Ontario (CNO)
- 3-5 years of nursing experience in a community setting OR combination of community and hospital or public health setting; experience in a primary care setting is an asset
- Ability to work with diverse communities with respect, sensitivity, creativity, innovation, cultural understanding, and non-judgement
